

Alexander Skryabin (Composer)

1872 - 1915

Alexander Nikolayevich Skryabin - a composer and a pianist.

Influenced on the development of the world musical culture of XX century greatly.

Skryabin's music has emotional tension, a diapason of types from ideal and spiritual to expressive and heroic.

A bright innovator in the field of expressive means, mainly-harmony, developed the idea of light music, was the first who included a special "Part of light" into his symphonic poem "Prometheus" ("A symphonic poem of Fire" with piano and chorus, 1910). "A divine poem" (third symphony, 1904), "A poem of extase" (1907) for orchestra; 10 sonatas, 29 poems, preludes for piano etc.

A professor of Moscow Conservatoire (1898-1904).