Alexander Skryabin Museum stands on one of the old Moscow lanes, Nikolopeskovsky Pereulok, and preserves the atmosphere of the Silver Age. Everything here is imbued with music and harmony. This house, where Alexander Skryabin lived in 1912 - 1915 remembers such remarkable guests as the Russian philosopher Nikolay Berdyaev, writer Mikhail Bulgakov, poet and the Nobel Prize winner Boris Pasternak (Skryabin's favorite student). The setting that surrounded Skryabin has still remained the same: composer's piano, library, paintings, art collections.
